Description:

Mark didnt ask to move to New Hampshire. Or to go to a hick school like Hardy Elementary. And he certainly didnt request Mr. Maxwell as his teacher. Mr. Maxwell doesnt like rich kids, or slackers, or know-it-alls. And hes decided that Mark is all of those things. Now the whole school is headed out for a week of camping -- Hardys famous Week in the Woods. At first it sounds dumb, but then Mark begins to open up to life in the country, and he decides it might be okay to learn something new. It might even be fun. But things go all wrong for Mark. The Week in the Woods is not what anyone planned. Especially not Mr. Maxwell. With his uncanny knack to reach right to the heart of kids, Andrew Clements asks -- and answers -- questions about first impressions, fairness, loyalty, and courage -- and exactly what it takes to spend a Week in the Woods.

This book was part of my sons 5th grade Lit Circle assigned reading. (this review is based on my sons reading comprehension of the book) This book is about a troubled, rich kid named Mark who is raised mainly by hired help. He goes on a camping trip - a week in the woods with his 5th grade classmates. While on the trip he takes the blame for a fellow friend who brought a pocket knife on the trip and got caught with it. Mr. Maxwell, the science teacher reprimands Mark which leads to him (Mark) running away from the camping trip. After he runs away Mr. Maxwell goes after him but gets hurt in the process but eventually is able to find Mark. My son enjoyed reading this book with his class and helped write this review :)
